Directions: These eyeballs are full cooked and ready to eat out of the package (a favorite snack of trolls and goblins). To cook them as part of a witch's brew, bring the cauldren to a boil and add the eyes one at a time. These go especially well with toe of frog, wool of bat, tongue of dog, and owl wings. Bring the cauldren to a full boil and bubble and repeat appropriate chant as needed. Make sure you never leave a boiling cauldren unattended.

Perfect snack or you can sprinkle them on your cereal or salad. They also make a great edition to witch's brew. Simply add to cauldren and boil with other favorite ingredients.
